Turkey Returns To Normal Under Junta

University Dean Summoned to Form New Government

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP)—Life gradually returned to normal in Turkey today under the watchful eye of a ruling military junta which toppled the government of Adnan Menderes and threatened to put the dictator-premier on trial.

Troops guarded banks and other important buildings throughout the country, but otherwise there were few outward signs that Turkey was under direct military rule.

Gen. Cemal Gursel's revolutionary "Turkish National Union Committee" moved swiftly, however, to set the wheels in motion again. Junta Names Board

The junta, which has promised new elections soon to set up a democratic state, named a board of educators and jurists to write a new constitution. It also ordered Dean Siddik Omar of Istanbul university flown to Ankara, reportedly to form a provisional government.

The junta promised that Turkey's military alliance with the United States would remain intact.

The banks were closed by military authorities Friday and all accounts blocked. But the junta announced the banks would reopen for business as usual Monday.

There was jubilation in the nation's press and among students as they resumed university and college classes suspended earlier this week by Menderes.

Students walked through the streets of Istanbul and Ankara. Some imitated the voice and mannerisms of Menderes, calling out "People, comrades; everything is in order; why do these children shout in the streets?"

This referred to a speech Menderes made recently in Izmir. The students drew wide smiles from older citizens.

More rumors circulated today. One said the United States organized Friday's coup because it could not allow civil unrest to break in Turkey.

Gursel, 65-year-old junta leader, continued moves to abolish restrictions Menderes had clamped on Turkish newspapers.

Nine journalists were released from prison where they have been serving terms for criticism of the Menderes government. Sentences against 26 others were wiped out.

Major newspapers were unanimous in acclaiming the military takeover. The newspaper Hurriyet suggested a monument be erected to students killed in a riot against Menderes.

The government claimed after the April 28 riot that one student was killed in the clash with police. The students claim 11 died. But additional victims have never been traced.

A spokesman for the ruling military junta told newsmen Menderes would be put on trial "under existing laws if there is a well-founded complaint against him."

The spokesman did not specify whether such a trial would be conducted by a military or civilian court.

Menderes was under arrest along with President Celal Bayar, ceremonial head of the nation. Also under "surveillance" were Foreign Minister Fatin Rustu Zorlu, other cabinet members and most parliamentary deputies of the Democratic party.

City To Oil Streets If Residents Want It

Applications for street oiling will be accepted starting next week, it was announced today by James Feller, city service department director.

Applications must be made within the next two weeks as he hopes to have the program completed within that period.

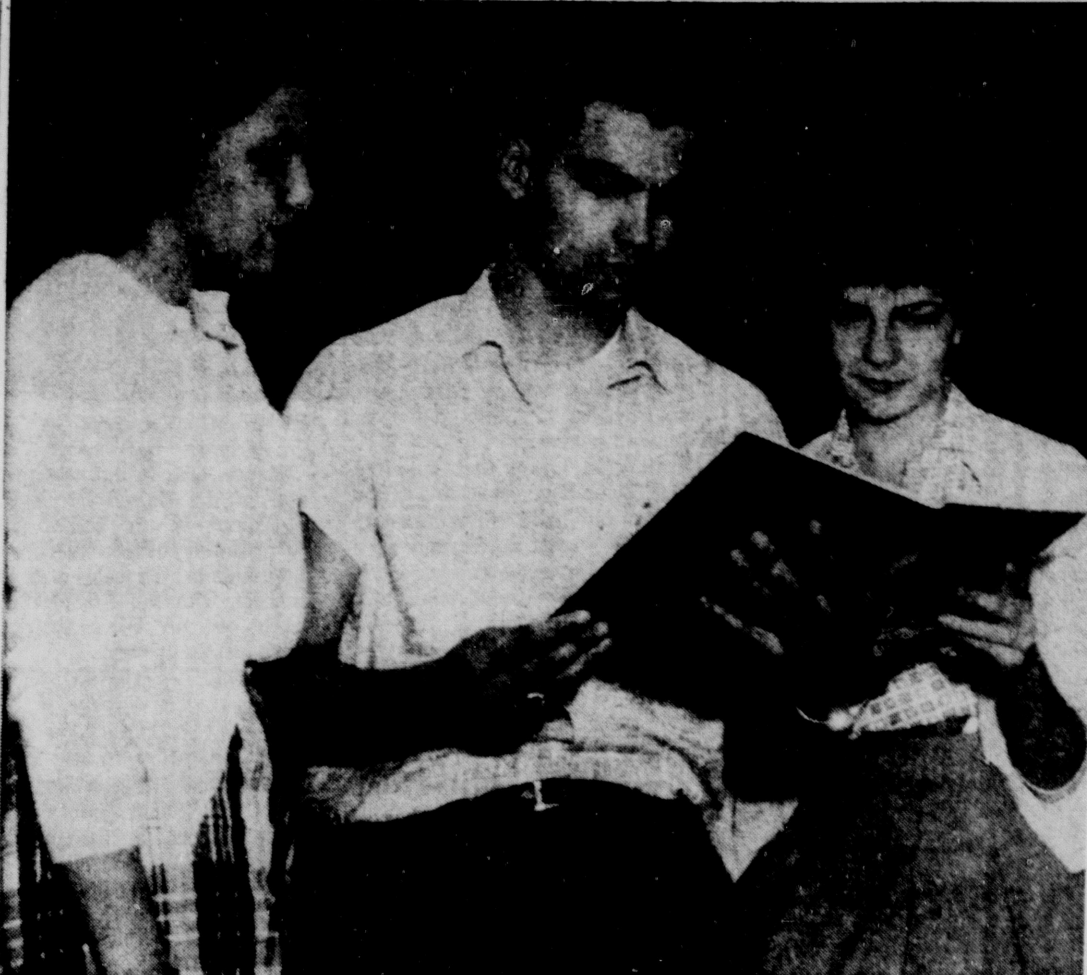

Applications can be made at the City Hall office of City Clerk Robert Rheutan. Cost is five cents per front foot. He said streets would be scraped before the oiling is begun.

Feller urged that motorists heed the barricades which will be placed on the streets for eight hours after the oiling.

Epidemic Fears Spread In Chile

Country Short Of Food, Water

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Shortages of food and water today touched off fears of epidemics in quake-shattered southern Chile.

Police fired warning shots, over the heads of hungry disaster victims trying to raid emergency supplies of food set up for rationing in Valdivia.

U. S. Navy Cmdr. Robert E. Merchant, who flew supplies to the stricken city, said:

"Even U.S. military men there helping bring in the supplies haven't been eating anything and can't drink the water. We left them all the sandwiches we had."

The known death toll in the worst-hit areas stood at close to 3,000, but officials said an accurate count may not be possible for weeks. They predicted the toll would rise.

At Valdivia, a city of 100,000 persons, about 4 per cent of the business and industrial areas are in ruins. Puerto Montt, with a population of about 45,000, was also suffering acute hardships.

Bad weather in southern Chile hampered operations by large planes flying in relief.

The U. S. Air Force set up a giant airlift of 54 Globemasters. But so far they have been unable to reach some of the worst disaster areas.

Two more earthquakes shook the troubled land Friday in the sixth day of temors.

U.S. Sleuths on Alert Against Spy Devices

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. sleuths today kept vacant a sizeable space in their secret trophy room and confidently predicted they'll fill it with Soviet spy devices seized in U. S. embassies abroad.

So far, in 10 years of probing through every nook and cranny of U. S. diplomatic quarters overseas, they have turned up well over 100 spy gadgets planted by Communists.

They report the tempo of Communist bugging has stepped up. And they feel sure they can pull out the bugs just about as fast as the Reds put them in even though the Soviets are devising ever fancier electronic gimmicks.

Captured microphones, tapped telephones and the like are shipped back to Washington and kept in a secret room in the State Department for training U. S. diplomats to be wary when they go overseas.

A display board showing various Communist bugging samples is less than half full right now. Security men are leaving the rest blank—expectantly.

One addition they count on coming across soon is a tiny TV camera. So far their trophies include only still cameras plus various soundcatching gadgets. But they figure the Reds can now build a TV camera 6 by 5 by 2 inches, with recessed lens—small enough to embed in a wall, floor or ceiling.

The State Department had no such security program in pre-cold war days. So no thorough check was made of the wooden plaque bearing the U. S. seal which a Soviet group gave to U. S. Ambassador Averell Harriman in Moscow in 1945.

It was not until 1952 — three ambassadors and seven years later — that a check turned up the secret microphone behind the eagle's beak which Ambassador

Defects Found In 423 Automobiles

A total of 476 motor vehicles passed through the UCT-sponsored safety lanes Friday, bringing the total for the week to 2,005. Chairman James L. Johnson reported.

Ninety-four cars were rejected yesterday because of defects, making 423 automobiles.

Seventy-three motorists had defects corrected prior to Friday and received the "Circle of Safety" stickers for their cars.

Johnson pointed out that some 25 Salem service stations and garages will continue through Tuesday to furnish this free safety check or to handle a recheck for those motorists failing to pass the inspection on the street lanes.

UCT members in charge of the lane yesterday on E. State St. were Cletus Rowe and Rex Hundermark. They were aided by Johnson, John Sweet, Joseph Larkins and Arlan Mason. Girl Scouts serving as recorders were Kathy Cosma, Judy Schuller, Sue White and Sue Mathews. Boy scouts serving as checkers were John Tarleton, Jerry Harris, Larry Crumbaker, Jack Sweet, Kenny Filler and George Murphy. Jack Patterson and Dick Humber of the Rod Angels Club also assisted in the inspection. Parker Chevrolet furnished James Pittman as the mechanic while Hoppes Tire Service furnished Carl Nutter as tire inspector. Auxiliary police handling the traffic were Don Cope, Richard McArthur and Gerald Harshman.

FIREMEN ANSWER CALL Firemen were called to the Pittsburgh Foundry & Machine Co., 460 W. Wilson St., at 7:37 p.m. Friday when a passerby mistook a burning rubbish pile for a fire in the building.

Fulbright Raps U2 Handling

Senator Charges Coordination Lack

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Senate committee probing the U2 spy plane incident says he's not satisfied there was effective coordination among top government agencies that handled the conflicting early statements about it.

Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) said Friday's testimony by Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and Undersecretary Douglas Dillon did not dispel his objections to the way it was handled. Republicans on Fulbright's Foreign Relations Committee generally defended Herter's position that the spy flights were needed for the free world's protection.

Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) said the testimony showed "an incredible lack of coordination" between the State Department, the White House, the Central Intelligence Agency and other arms of the government.

The committee will resume its inquiry Tuesday with testimony by Allen Dulles, director of the CIA.

Unlike Friday's testimony, censored and then made public, Dulles' story will be secret.

Herter said Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev used the U2 plane incident as an excuse and not as the reason for breaking up the Paris meeting. But he conceded that the flight played a part in the summit failure.

Fulbright said the action was a mistake, but Herter argued that if President Eisenhower had disclaimed responsibility for the U2 flight he would have fallen into a trap set by Khrushchev.

Herter contended Khrushchev then would have charged that "a little frantic group in the Pentagon is running the government of the United States without the President knowing about it, and that makes our situation even worse."

Herter conceded, under questioning by Fulbright, that it was unprecedented for a head of a state to take personal responsibility for espionage activity. But he said the circumstances of the downing of the U2 were unusual.

Lisbon Man Killed As Auto Hits Parked Truck

LISBON — A Lisbon man was killed almost instantly at 12:25 a.m. today when his car crashed into the rear of a parked tractor-trailer loaded with steel on West Pine St., about 100 feet west of N. Beaver.

Police said the victim, Fherman

G. Baker Jr., 29, of 262 W. Sherman St., died of a fractured skull, broken neck and head injuries after his 1957 Plymouth sedan hit the trailer which was parked on north side of the street, headed east.

Baker's car, also going east, hit with such force on driver's side of the car that it spun around and came to a stop 30 feet south, headed in the opposite direction.

Officer Leon Zahndt, arriving at the scene a few minutes afterwards, said he thought Baker was dead when he got there, but after working 35 minutes to remove the victim, he was taken to the Salem City Hospital where Baker was pronounced dead.

The truck is owned by Wilbur G. Hawthorne of 401 N. Beaver St.

Coroner William A. Kolozsi ruled "accidental death" of broken neck and fractured skull.

Mrs. Baker, the former Delores Williams, said her husband arrived home just a few minutes before in another car, but decided to take their car and leave again. She said he just pulled away from their home when she heard the crash. The home is about half block from where the truck was parked.

Mr. Baker worked as a truck driver for the Williams Trucking Co. of Lisbon.

His death is 11th traffic fatality in the county compared to 12 at this time last year, and it was first fatal in Lisbon for almost six years.

The last traffic death happened Sept. 20, 1954, near the Canton Bridge, when a truck coming east on State Route 30 struck a car coming out of Logtown Rd., running over it and killing William A. Wilson of Clarkson.

Mr. Baker was born Feb. 21, 1931, in Canton, a son of Fherman and Cornelia Cusick Baker Sr. He was a member of the United Presbyterian Trinity Church.

Besides his wife he is survived by a daughter, Pamela Sue, aged Beaver Falls; two stepsons, Roy; one son, Eddie Fisher, 7, of Robert J. Baker of the home and Ronnie Baker in the Marines on Okinawa; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fherman Baker Sr., of Beloit and his grandmother, Mrs. John Cusick of Lisbon; three brothers, Robert Baker of Warren, Frederick Baker and John Baker of Salem, and two sisters, Ferois Baker of Beloit and Mrs. Verna Mae Irey of Salem.

Soviet Premier Reports On Summit Failure

Repeats Charges U.S. Aggression Torpedoed Talks

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev said today he believes President Eisenhower wants peace but the "road to hell is paved with good intentions and he will really get there." U.S. military circles he described as opposed to peace.

"Everybody knows that the President of the United States has two duties: The first is to play golf and the second is to be president, and golf-playing is more important," Khrushchev said.

He declared the Americans need to be "taken down a peg or two."

Reports to Nation

The Soviet leader reported to the Soviet nation by radio and TV, in a speech delivered before a meeting of Communist labor brigade leaders in the Kremlin, on the failure of the Paris summit conference and related world affairs. The delegates unanimously acclaimed him as the "foremost shock worker of Communist labor."

In a three-hour talk which he broke off to a 20-minute rest period, Khrushchev presented these main points:

THE MAY U2 FLIGHT: "Treachery committed by the U.S. government." The creation of a new Soviet rocket that Khrushchev said downed the high-flying Lockheed craft has undermined the entire U.S. military bomber strategy.

SUMMIT CONFERENCE: "The United States bears responsibility before the whole world" for collapse of the Big Four Paris meeting. There was a slap at Bonn also—"backstage activities of the West German government did everything to wreck the summit conference or render it sterile."

Khrushchev will be disappointed if there is not a new summit conference in six or eight months, but not surprised. An Eisenhower apology for the U2 flight is still a precondition. Red China, India, Indonesia and possibly some other nations should take part in any future summit meeting.

UNITED NATIONS: Defeated in the Security Council, the Soviet Union is going to submit to the General Assembly its charge of aggression by the United States. "The majority of the Security Council could not pronounce a verdict. How could the pirates be judged by those who themselves were pirates?"

DISARMAMENT: The Soviet Union will resume nuclear tests if the United States does. "I want to warn that the renewal of nuclear explosions will lead to our renewing such nuclear tests in the interests of our security and that of our allies. I stress that we do not want such a development. I repeat once again that we are ready to carry on honest negotiations on disarmament."

TURKEY: In a reference to U.S. military bases there: "The government of Premier Adnan Menderes" which was overthrown Friday did not promote the betterment of relations with Soviet Union. We have been striving for better relations with Turkey for a long time."

JAPAN: The Soviets will deal a shattering blow at U.S. bases if those bases are used for spy flights over Russia.

The newly concluded U.S.-Japan military pact was described as directed against the U.S.S.R. and its great friend, China.

DOMESTIC AFFAIRS: Anastas I. Mikoyan, a first deputy premier who has not been seen at public functions in Moscow lately, is on a Black Sea vacation. "Western journalists have spread the story that there's a clash in the (Communist party) Central Committee over Mikoyan. There's no truth in it."

Confident Living

By Dr. NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

How to Get More Out of Life

I have often wondered why some people seem to get so much more out of life than others. I think I have discovered at least one reason. It is the mental attitude they take toward each new day. They start the morning on a happy, positive note and this sets the tone for the whole day.

Years ago I was a friend of the late Rattie McDaniel, the much loved movie star. She was a person of radiant character despite lots of hardships and physical suffering. When she was a child dreaming of being an actress, her father, a Baptist preacher, told her she could serve God in the theatrical profession just as in any other, if she was a dedicated person. "There is so much trouble in the world, Hattie," he said. "I hope you will pray that through you the Lord will make people happy." And she did.

Hattie McDaniel developed the habit of stepping out each morning into the open air, taking several deep breaths, then throwing out her arm in a gesture of joy as she cried out, "Hello, there, good morning!"

"And," she would say, with that wonderful smile of hers, "that good morning just smiles right back at me. Then I go about my job of making people happy. And I'm happy doing it."

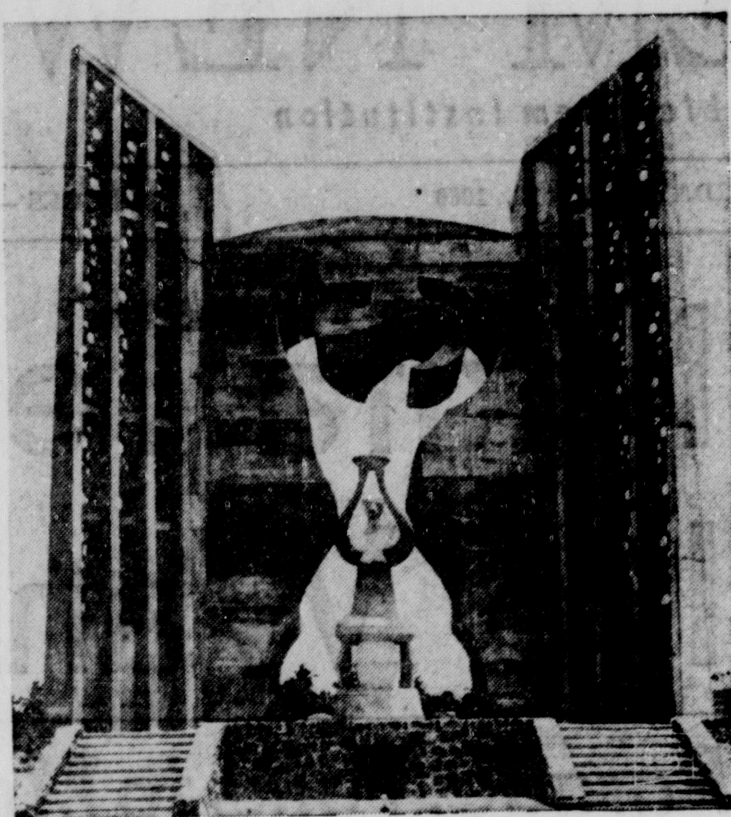

ONE OF THE GREATEST of all the laws of living is that life gives back to us what we give to it. In the Rockies there is a lake that has a remarkable echo. If you shout from a certain spot on the shore, the sound of your voice echoes back to you resoundingly from the surrounding mountains. A friend of mine tried this out by shouting "Get out of here, you bum!" And from the mountains came the thundering echo, "Get out of here, you bum!" But as my friend surveyed the glorious scene he sensed the presence of God in lake, mountain and valley. And he cried out again, but this time he shouted, "The world is full of the glory of God." And as he listened it seemed as though all the nature returned the tremendous message, "The world is full of the glory of God."

That experience poetically illustrates a basic truth. According to what we give to life, we receive from it. Give hate and you will get hate back. Give love and love will flow to you. Give joy and joy will flood your life. As Ella Wheeler Wilcox said, "Laugh, and the world laughs with you; Weep, and you weep alone; For the sad old earth must borrow its mirth, But has trouble enough of its own."

EVEN A DAY THAT MIGHT seem hopelessly dismal can become a bright day if one approaches it optimistically. One morning last February I happened to be at St. Louis. Winter was out in full force that gray, overcast morning. The temperature was pushing zero. The snow lay thick upon the ground and new snow filled the air. Traffic was practically at a standstill. I went to Union Station to take a train for Kansas City. A howling wind surged under the train sheds, scooping up snow in long spirals and dropping it down people's necks. The walks were slippery with ice. The elemental force seemed bent upon trying everybody's patience. People moved glumly along, grumbling about the "terrible day."

Then I noticed a big fellow striding up the platform, hatless, with his coat open and flapping in the wind. His face was ruddy and wreathed in a big smile. See, he boomed out, "Hello there! Isn't this a glorious bad morning?"

WHAT A PHRASE — "a glorious bad morning!" Suddenly I too caught something of the might, the thrill, the glory of that rugged winter morning. The man's attitude changed the aspect of the day. Later, on the train, I engaged him in conversation. "Were you ever get that glorious bad morning idea?" I asked. He chuckled, "I have read your book on positive thinking. You

Buckeye Garden Project

Each Buckeye School pupil received a packet of sunflower seeds and instructions for planting the seeds Thursday afternoon when the Salem Garden Study Club sponsored a flower show in the school gym as the climax of a year-long project at the school.

Miss Alta Peterson, school principal, expressed the hope that many of the youngsters would bring flowers from the seeds to the school next fall when another flower show will be held. Some of the large sunflowers will be gathered in the autumn and dried, and their seeds will be used to provide food for the birds near the school next winter, the principal explained.

The kindergarten children of Buckeye School paid a visit to the Frank Wagmiller farm on Pine Lake Road Thursday afternoon.

Riding ponies and seeing young farm animals highlighted the visit of the 40 youngsters. They were accompanied by their teacher, Miss Sally Moore and their room mothers.

Sixth graders of Buckeye School went by chartered bus to Pittsburgh recently, visiting the museum, planetarium and airport there. The 32 boys and girls were accompanied by their teacher, Mrs. Louis Shafer, and several parents.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Our future presidents and prime ministers — from what spiritual heritage shall they arise?

The ultimate giants of science and industry — what faith will they profess?

The fathers and mothers of our grandchildren and great-grandchildren — what convictions will be taught in their homes?

All this we are deciding today . . . in our churches . . . in our families.

For one generation can bequeath only to the next that which it, itself, possesses.

Our own religious life, our own determination to provide our children with thorough spiritual training, our own faithfulness in filling our churches with families — these positive purposes, expressed Sunday after Sunday, will mold TOMORROW'S LEADERS

Up, Down Or In the Middle?

Steel production currently is flirting with a rate in the high 60s after falling steadily from a rate in the high 70s a month ago. Steel magazine says no improvement is to be hoped for until late July, when Automobile production picks up speed again.

Meanwhile, the steel industry's best bet for keeping orders coming in is the construction industry, but here as in other heavy users the situation is that users overestimated their needs and are continuing to liquidate surplus stocks.

There is that bugaboo again—surplus stock. After the steel production rate has soared to full capacity a year ago, in anticipation of a strike, inventories were so high that even 116-day strike could not bring all of them down to the disappearing point.

The strike proved, in effect, that if the steel industry produced at maximum capacity for six months the country could come close to making do without further major production for the next six months.

The industry's experience in this otherwise good if not boom year is that steel production at a heavily curtailed rate is adequate to support a high rate of automotive production, the building industry, the appliance industry and its other customers, except in the most extraordinary circumstances. Some steel products, like cold rolled sheets and tin plate, that were hard to get early this year are now being scheduled for June production, according to Steel magazine.

Not many years ago, when the economic planners were conspicuously influential in Washington, it was the custom to tee off on the steel industry periodically, to the effect that it was maintaining a chronic shortage of capacity in order to create an artificial shortage of production. To this sniping charge, the industry always pointed to its program of privately underwritten expansion.

The industry obviously knew what it was doing. Capacity has been increased now to a point where even in good year it can outrun current demand. And this is a good year. All the indexes reflect a high rate of economic activity—not as high as some optimists would like it to be, but it never is.

When the year is over, there may have to be some reappraisals of some of the fixed circumstances of productivity in the United States. The automobile-steel complex, for instance, has become so intricately interwoven that the normal pattern of automotive production may be transferred in large degree to steel production.

Plea For Uplifting Inquiries

The nearest the United States federal government can come to the parliamentary practice of question-and-answer periods is the congressional committee inquiry.

Thus, while Britain's Prime Minister Macmillan and France's President De Gaulle can report personally to their legislative bodies on deeds or misdeeds at the Paris Summit, President Eisenhower must remain aloof at the White House while two Senate committees wade into investigations of the relationship between present foreign policy and the summit's collapse.

All theoretical things remaining equal, the Capitol Hill inquiries would be a good thing. As Republican Sen. Javits says, it is perfectly proper for the legislative branch to try to review all the factors involved when a major event concerning national policy occurs.

AND THERE IS encouraging evidence that the inquiries may be governed by a bipartisan spirit.

Sen. Johnson, Democratic leader of the upper chamber, has emphasized his support for the President's position in Paris and his distaste for any effort to split the nation's unity against the onslaughts of Nikita Khrushchev.

Sen. Jackson, Democratic chairman of one of the investigating committees, says he wants to confine the study to the adequacy of the decision-making process in the executive branch.

Sen. Douglas, spokesman for Democratic liberals on Capitol Hill, says he is opposed to taking partisan advantage of the situation.

The trouble is that this is an election year—presidential and congressional.

Congressional inquiries at any time have a tendency to become sidetracked from the high-minded purposes for which they are conceived to the low-level petty wrangling that confuses the body politic by confusing the issues. This is especially true in an election year.

TOO MANY INDIVIDUALS feel the need to blow their own horns so the voters back home will hear them instead of musing their own horns for the sake of intelligent appraisal of a national problem.

This is the only reason some people have misgivings about launching congressional inquiries into the whole U2-summit affair.

Most serious citizens and dedicated officials hope the Capitol Hill politicians are being sincere when they say their inquiries are aimed at helping the nation rather than hurting any campaigner.

Whether that is asking too much of them in this election year will be answered only after the inquiries have developed a bit.

Look Who's Predicting!

It looks as though Vice President Nixon doesn't have anything to worry about now. He's as good as in.

Harold Stassen has sounded off again, this time predicting that Mr. Nixon can't win the presidential election.

Which should be of great comfort to the prospective Republican nominee, for Childe Harold hasn't been right about anything for years — and especially Richard Nixon.

The gossip you tell some people goes in one ear and out all over the neighborhood.

Once Over

The world may be going to the dogs but Khrushchev has turned it to the CATS. Repeated references to cats, their bad tendencies and scruff of neck treatment as proper punishment have aroused the pussies of the world. It is hard to find even a kitten today not on the free world side.

Mehitabel, famed cat of Don Marquis, interviewed this morning announced plans for an organization of U.N. for felines: A global association to get fair play for cats everywhere, including Russia.

"Why did Nikita drag us into the cold war?" demanded Mehitabel. "It's the first time we knew we were on his drop dead list. Cats have been highly regarded on all levels ever where up to now and we never suspected we would find ourselves hauled over the coals at a Paris conference as villains and thieves, instead of friendly and companionable pets of all mankind. There is hardly a purr left in the cat world."

"Are they really sore?" we asked. "They have their backs up," was the reply. "They will not take it lying down or playing with a ball of yarn. Just think of it: A world in crisis, civilization at the crossroads, mankind on the brink of an abyss and Khrushchev in a two hour tirade screams about cats as a threat to cream and pigeons!"

"Haven't cats had any previous complaints?" we asked. "I admit there have been cats which raided milk saucers but, thank heaven, rarely before has grabbing them by the tail or the scruff of the neck and slamming them against the wall been portrayed as national policy and the best way to peace, better understandings and co-existence."

"What will be first protective step by United Cats of the World?" we asked.

"We demand an apology from Khrushchev, a promise never to do it again and the punishment of all Soviet leaders who in any way authorized Nikita's aggressive action against cats," snapped Mehitabel.

WE HOPE ONE PARTY in the next election will put in its platform a pledge for a law against men's hat makers who turn out narrow brims. They make most men look ridiculous. Unless the trend is halted you may go into a hat store and find that the brim is listed as an extra.

A Hollywood writer is the 14th man arrested for making jokes on planes about bombs. Hollywood gags have long been pretty bad but we doubt even FBI can keep them.

There is one explanation for Ike's remarkable self restraint in Paris, when it is known that he must have inwardly felt the "Let me at him" mood. His extensive golf training had schooled him against overswinging and blowing his stack when in the rough.

Khrushchev put a complete spaceship into orbit, with pressurized cabin and a waxworks man or dummy. He may claim at any minute that the dummy is enjoying three meals a day, refusing restoratives and sending out signals which say, "What's new with Ike, de Gaulle and MacCillan?"

Infantry Still Reigns

By GEN. BRUCE C. CLARKE

The author is commanding general of the U. S. Continental Army Command.

FORT MONROE, Va. The development of exotic weapons of war in recent years has been so dramatic that on Memorial Day, 1960, we find they almost overshadow the ground soldier.

Yet never before in history has the role of the combat infantryman—the legendary GI Joe—been more important than he is today in the so-called atomic age.

The doughfoot's arsenal of supporting weapons has never been more varied. Never has he had greater mobility.

Thanks to our Strategic Army Corps, today's ground combat infantryman can spearhead our regiment over the ground, through the air or by jumping from the skies.

The ground soldier's communications never have been better. The weapon that will replace man—the ultimate weapon—on the battlefield has yet to be conceived.

Despite what you read or hear, he has not been replaced by anything that fissions, flies or floats. In the atomic age, he is the symbol of our determination to halt aggression.

It is by no idle chance that in the history of mankind the course of democracy parallels the importance accorded the ground soldier in the military forces of nations.

The National Council of Churches may draw some lively discussion again next week at the annual conference of the American Baptist Convention.

Dissident groups, led by one of the largest congregations in the denomination, promise to make a strong effort to pull the 1½ million-member convention out of the council.

Their chances: Not very good. The movement carries overtones of the recent Air Force Manual squabble in which the NCC was accused of harboring Communist influences within its ranks. The manual has been withdrawn.

Leader in the session movement is the 4,300-member First Baptist Church of Wichita, Kan., which last March voted to withdraw financial support — about $30,000 a year — from the convention "because of its affiliation with the National Council."

Prior to the American Baptist meetings, which begin next Thursday in Rochester, N. Y., a committee of Wichita deacons and a special convention committee will meet to discuss the matter.

It is no exaggeration to say that the basic freedoms we now enjoy are closely related to his ascending importance on the battlefield.

Nor is it an exaggeration, in my opinion, to say that the preservation of those freedoms will continue to be oriented by his place in the sun.

LET ME CITE a few examples.

In ancient Athens, so long as the citizens bore arm and the infantry was dominant, people kept their freedom. When the wealthier citizens adopted another elite arm, tyrants soon seized control of the government.

So long as Roman citizens bore arms, the Roman Legions were the most powerful instrument of war in the world.

It was not the horse archer who sent the Roman Legion into oblivion, as so many historians mistakenly presume. It was the fact that Roman citizens lost their will and determination, the discipline and desire, to serve their country!

Their places were taken by mercenaries, hired barbarians on horseback, who fought their battles for them.

From this time until the Battle of Crecy, in 1346, horse-mounted armored nobility ruled the battlefield.

At Crecy, fought in the same general area of France where we fought World Wars I and II, greatly outnumbered British longbowmen on foot brought down the mounted French nobility.

The National Council, says the Rev. W. Hubert Porter, associate general secretary of the ABC, in New York.

"But," he adds, "when you get a group of free delegates together one takes a risk in assuming too much assurance about what will happen."

Every year for the past 12 years some resolution concerning ABC relations with the NCC has reached the conference floor, and each time delegates have voted to reaffirm participation in council activities.

Khrushchev Feared Visit By Eisenhower

The big date in current history is April 25, 1960 and not May 1, when the U2 was downed in the Soviet Union.

In view of what has happened since, extraordinary significance attaches to the speech delivered by Nikita Khrushchev at Baku on April 25, which was reported in a fragmentary way in the American press.

An examination of the Baku speech shows clearly that the Soviet government had come to the conclusion that it would get nowhere at the summit conference.

Overnight all the government's controlled radio stations and newspapers in the Soviet Union began to prepare the people for a summit failure and flatly blamed the West.

The same bitter tone which Mr. Khrushchev used in Paris is to be noted in what he said at Baku in a violent attack on Secretary Herter and Under Secretary Dillon.

ON THAT SAME DAY, the Soviet Premier intimated that he planned to use military power to enforce his prospective seizure of West Berlin. He said in part:

"If the Western powers refuse to sign a peace treaty with the German Democratic Republic, they will not retain the rights on the preservation of which they are insisting."

"They naturally will forfeit the right of access to West Berlin by land, water and air."

In another portion of his speech, the Soviet Premier practically admitted that he had no hope of reaching any agreement at the summit conference. He said:

"The nearer the day the heads of governments are to meet, the more one-sided is the approach of certain statesmen of the Western powers to the problems before the conference. . . ."

Examples are not far to seek. Take a recent speech by the United States under secretary of state, Dillon, which is presented as a statement of the United States policy on the eve of the summit conference.

"That speech just reeks of the 'cold war' spirit. Dillon's statement is more like a collection of trite inventions about the Soviet Union and the socialist countries than a responsible policy declaration. . . ."

"Dillon tried to strike a note of ill will and suspicion on the very eve of the summit conference when it is so essential that an atmosphere of international confidence should be created and maintained."

"Dillon referred to the summit as a test of the good faith of the intentions of the Soviet Union, pretending that the outcome of the conference depends on the Soviet Union alone rather than on all of its participants. . . ."

"To judge from the statement by Mr. Dillon, who is, clearly, no outsider in the government quarters of the United States, it comes out that the United States government will not be willing to reach an agreement on disarmament and on the ways of improving East-West relations unless its view on the Berlin question is accepted."

"Why, then, did Dillon have to make a statement so obviously out of tune with the tenor of relations between the U.S.S.R. and the United States, since my conversations with President Eisenhower at Camp David? . . ."

"I would not have touched on the statement by the United States under secretary of state if not for some other things which, unfortunately, find expression not only in words but also in deed, that put one on the lookout."

The Soviet premier then made a vehement attack on the disarmament negotiations and accused the West of refusing really to reach an agreement. He added:

"Consider a speech made by Mr. Herter, the man who heads the United States Department of State and consequently shapes the foreign policy of his country. The speech which he made in Chicago on April 4 can only be regretted. . . ."

"Mr. Herter wants to engage us in discussions on the reunification of Germany, on holding some kind of plebiscites there, in discussions on questions which are not subject to discussion by states represented at the summit conference. . . ."

"If, despite all our efforts, the Western powers refuse to seek jointly with the Soviet Union a concerted solution of the problem of the peace treaty, and against common sense will ignore the question, we, of course, will go our own way and sign a peace treaty with the German Democratic Republic. . . ."

"It is common knowledge that the signing of a peace treaty puts an end to all terms stemming from the surrender of a country. Therefore, when a peace treaty is signed with the German Democratic Republic, the terms stemming from the surrender will lose their force on the entire territory controlled by the government of that state."

"Consequently, the rights which the Western powers obtained as a result of the surrender of Hitler Germany, including the right for the further preservation of the occupation status in West Berlin, will also lose their force with regard to this territory."

IF MR. KHRUSHCHEV was intent on torpedoing the summit conference because of the statement on the Berlin problem, why did he indulge in such insults against President Eisenhower?

The answer is he wanted to make a personality issue of it and lay the foundations for the withdrawal of the invitation to the Soviet Union President to visit the Soviet Union.

The other day, a former Soviet intelligence agent who defected in Southeast Asia—where he was working as a Soviet "diplomat"—was asked on the TV panel "Meet the Press" why the Soviet government doesn't want President Eisenhower to visit there.

He said: "The Soviet Communist regime is in no way interested in allowing so popular a man as the American President to come to the Soviet Union. . . . They are definitely afraid of the impact such a visit can make on the Soviet people."

Nation Gone to Grass

By TRUMAN TWILL

Recently, in pursuit of information about lawn mowers I learned what I had been suspecting for two years.

The lawn mower situation is chaotic.

So many manufacturers have surged into the business opportunity opened up by the rush to the suburbs that a buyer cannot find his way through their competing claims.

To make things worse, competing models of mowers in the same price stratum are pretty much alike. Some are better than others and some are worse than others, but all of them will mow grass.

This refers to power mowers. Hand-pushed mowers are still around, and people are still buying and using them. But in that regard, people are still buying horses, too. It's just that the big thing today is internal combustion.

Even householders with postage-stamp lawns now must have power mowers. A kid wouldn't think of tackling a lawn with a hand mower. Not only would he demand power, but he would specify width of cut, horsepower and special features.

This is the kind of thing that can be expected when a nation goes to grass. Chaos takes over what once was an orderly situation. Lawn mowers once were handed down from one generation to the next. All they needed was a sharpening every three years and an oiling every now and then. There was nothing to wear out. Everything lasted forever.

No one dreamed of mowing more grass than could be encompassed in the limits of its strength, or the strength of whoever was going to do the mowing. For large lawns, help was cheap. A kid would push a lawn mower all day for a dollar and a half.

Lawn mowers were cheap, too. It paid to have a couple on hand, in the event two pairs of hands showed up. The whirr of a hand-pushed mower in the distance is a sound that can bring tears to the eyes of any American who grew up in a residential neighborhood BIC—Before Internal Combustion.

Today, picking the right mower is as complicated as picking the right mate. Width, type, endorsements, experience of friends, price, reputation of manufacturer, weight, type of engine, nature of patented features, color, noise level and safety devices must be weighed.

There are so many things to consider that a would-be purchaser is tempted to forget it and let the grass go to seed. He is as perplexed as the buyer of an automobile used to be when brand names came by the dozen.

That's me. I didn't know what chaos was until I began to round up information about lawn mowers, with a view to using the information to steer me toward the best machine within my price range—the most mower for the least money, but not so little that I would be getting too much candy for a nickel.

In the far corner of the tool house, where it has been given no attention for 10 years, stands an old-fashioned lawn mower—one manpower.

That mower looks better every day. A sharpening, a little oil and a lively boy to push it would bring back a golden era. And that's no joke. The rate for lively boys has gone up. For three acres of lawn and no trimming, $25 would be about right. For $25 in the era of hand-pushed mowers you could have bought a boy.

The Doctor Says

By HAROLD THOMAS HYMAN, M.D.

Views Vary on Tuberculosis Immunization

Now while all medical authorities are in agreement about the meaning and interpretation of the tuberculin skin test, there is a sharp division of opinion with regard to the values and dangers of preventive immunization in tuberculosis.

Dr. H. T. Hyman

But before entering into this heated controversy, let me indicate the extent of the tuberculin problem.

At least one of each three Americans sooner or later will develop a positive tuberculin skin test. This means that the positive reactor has immune or defensive bodies to fight the tubercle bacillus and hence must have had tuberculosis infection some time previous to development of the positive reaction. Of these estimated 60 million or more tuberculous infections, the vast majority — perhaps better than 95 per cent — passed without incident (subclinical or unapparent infections).

THE SMALL MINORITY — perhaps less than five per cent — of tuberculous infections are productive of ill health (clinical tuberculosis).

In actual numbers, those who suffer from clinical tuberculosis make up an army of a half million at any given moment. Of these only one in every 2,000 positive tuberculin reactors is fated to succumb each year.

Truly a remarkable record and one that is improving month by month.

As you know, man's conquest of "the white plague" has been accomplished through carefully supervised use of new drugs, especially the streptomycins and isoniazid, assisted at times by skillful surgery.

AND THESE NEW drugs, especially isoniazid, are equally effective as agents for the prevention of infection, particularly in persons with a positive tuberculin skin test and unapparent or subclinical infection.

When it comes to protection of apparently healthy persons with a negative tuberculin skin test, authorities are of at least two opinions.

Advocates of active immunization favor use of a freeze-dried vaccine of tremendously weakened tubercle bacilli (BCG vaccine) in order to convert the negative test to one that is positive, indicating the presence in the body of effective immune or defensive bodies. This, naturally, provides life-long protection whereas drug prevention is only effective so long as the drug is given.

THOSE WHO FAVOR BCG vaccination point out that the method has been adopted by the governments of France, Norway, Denmark, Finland, Brazil, India and Japan and by the World Health Organization, the National Tuberculosis Association and the National Research Council of Great Britain.

Those who oppose BCG vaccination no longer argue that it is unsafe (as it once was) but hold to the view that the vaccine is weak and ineffective. A middle position, to which I subscribe, favors mass immunization for underprivileged communities, whether whole countries or particular susceptible groups within an enlightened country (American Indians), and individual immunization for persons heavily exposed to active tuberculosis infection like the family of a sick person, medical students, internes, doctors, nurses, nurses' aides, hospital personnel, dentists, dentist's aides or nurses, and occupants of large or crowded housing units like barracks, prisons, dormitories and sanatoria.

BCG vaccine is not available commercially. It is standardized by the National Institute of Health and may be obtained by physicians only through the U. S. Public Health Service, the Henry Phipps Institute of Philadelphia and the Chicago Municipal Tuberculosis Sanitarium.

Mysterious Object Probed by Navy

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — The Navy today pressed efforts to identify a mysterious, motionless underwater object that gave rise to speculation that foreign submarines are prowling off Florida's coast.

And in Louisiana, a report of a periscope sighting by the merchant ship R.P. Smith in the shallow, winding Mississippi, 20 miles downstream from Baton Rouge, also was investigated. The Navy was skeptical that a submarine would be found at either spot.

If the object in the Atlantic depths off Key West were a Soviet or other alien submarine, it could not be molested in waters outside the three-mile limit. But a Navy spokesman here said "we're sure it's not a sub."

Whatever it is, Navy surface and submarine craft have been striving since Tuesday to learn the nature of the object, picked up on sonar sound equipment near Key West.

The Navy at Washington confirmed that a six-ship antisubmarine warfare fleet has been carrying on the investigation for several days.

Election Board Issues Reminder On Filing Expenses

The Columbiana County Election Board sent a second reminder Friday to candidates who have not filed the required sworn statements of campaign expenditures as an aftermath of the May 3 primaries.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, pointed out in a letter that failure of any candidate to file a report by the deadline June 17 at 4 p.m. will disqualify him from running for any other public office in the next five years.

O'Hanlon also pointed out that the expense statements must be signed in the presence of a notary public or some other person authorized to administer an oath, and that receipted invoices must be enclosed for each item in excess of $25.

Many candidates have not filed the reports, although nearly three weeks have elapsed since the primaries, O'Hanlon said. They are required of all candidates, whether or not they were successful, and of committees that supported or opposed any candidate or issue.

Four more candidates have filed the reports.

I. J. Vorndran of East Liverpool, unsuccessful candidate for the GOP nomination for state representative, said he spent $124.

Carl L. Stacey of Columbiana said he spent $185 campaigning for Democratic nomination for clerk of courts, although he was unopposed.

John A. Anzman of Salem, unsuccessful Democratic candidate for sheriff, reported expenses of $157.

Robert M. Bell of Steubenville, who was elected GOP state central committeeman from the 18th Congressional District, reported expenses of $191.

Franklin Township trustees had no expenses in connection with submission of a two-tenth mill levy for current expenses, which voters rejected, according to a report filed by Coletta Kelly, Township clerk.

A film, "Babies Like to Eat," was shown, and Mrs. Weirick and Mrs. Elizabeth Stacey presented a skit on "post Partum Care for the Mother."

Testimony Links Hargrove With Murder Weapon

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—The murder trial of Floyd E. Hargrove was recessed for the holiday week-end Friday after the jury heard testimony linking the defendant with the rifle said to have been used in the sniper slaying of Charles R. Clark.

The state will continue presentation of testimony Tuesday. Prosecutor Edward R. Ostrander said he could not say how much longer it would take to complete the state's case.

Two ballistics experts testified that the bullet which killed Clark was fired from the same gun that Hargrove allegedly test-fired into a utility pole in Kirtland Twp. the day before the Christmas Eve slaying.

A rifle, said by authorities to be the murder weapon, was found Jan. 4 in a stream in nearby Kirtland Hills after Hargrove led searchers to the spot.

Clark, 35, a Boy Scout leader and Sunday School superintendent, was killed by a bullet fired through a kitchen window at his home in nearby Mentor while he was helping his 12-year-old daughter, Carol, open a can of pumpkin. The state contends Hargrove, a 35-year-old delivery truck driver, killed Clark because he was in love with the victim's attractive wife, Lois, 31, a former fashion model. Both Hargrove and Mrs. Clark have admitted that they carried on a love affair which ended about six weeks before Clark was slain.

Orioles Nip Yankees 3-2 To Move Back Into First Place

White Sox Jar Athletics 7-4

Red Sox Victors; Tribe Rained Out

By The Associated Press

Ever catch butterflies with a glove? Clint Courtney did, and now the Baltimore Orioles are back in the American League lead.

Courtney surrounded Hoyt Wilhelm's knuckleball pitches with a new, out-sized mitt Friday and the Orioles beat the New York Yankees 3-2.

It was the first time anyone had tried the glove, designed especially to combat Wilhelm's tosses. It also was the first time Courtney, caught Wilhelm. Whether it was the glove, Courtney or both, Wilhelm managed his first complete game of the season. In 28 2-3 previous innings this season, Wilhelm's catchers had been charged with 11 passed balls.

Courtney didn't let any get away with a man on base. The victory pushed the Orioles a half-game ahead of Cleveland, rained out at Detroit.

Third place Chicago, also a half-game behind, beat Kansas City 7-4. And Boston beat Washington 4-3 in a game interrupted by a brawl.

In the National League St. Louis beat San Francisco 5-4 and trimmed the Giants' lead over rain-idled Pittsburgh to one game. Cincinnati defeated Milwaukee 9-5, on Ed Bailey's grand-slam home run with two out in the ninth. Los Angeles beat Chicago's Cubs 5-3.

The Oriole have won 11 of their last 15. They sent the Yankees to fifth place with a three-run fifth against Art Ditmar. A two-out single by Gene Woodling capped the rally after rookie Marv Breeding's two-run double. Wilhelm (2-2) gave up six hits, two each by Roger Maris and Yogi Berra — and each drove in a run.

Russ Kemmerer pitched 5-2-3 innings of four-hit, shutout relief for the White Sox after starter Billy Pierce lost a 3-2 lead. Kemmerer, now 1-2, had dropped five in a row since last August. Luis Aparicio had four of the Sox' nine hits and scored four runs. He broke a 4-4 tie in the seventh against Roy Herbert (2-3), scoring on Al Smith's infield out after hitting his second triple.

A walk and consecutive singles by Vic Wertz, Gene Stephens and Frank Malzone gave Boston two runs in the eighth that broke a 2-2 tie. It was only the second victory in 13 games for the Red Sox, but their third of the season against Camilo Pascual (5-4), who had won four in a row. Tom Brewer (3-4) won it with an eight-hitter, one a pinch home run by Lennie Green in the ninth.

The brawl came in the fifth. It started when Pete Runnels, the AL's top hitter (.360), said something to Pascual after ducking a high, inside pitch and then watching a third strike. Pascual was knocked down and suffered an ankle injury in the melee that followed, but stayed on the mound and finished with 13 strikeouts.

WINS FEATURED TROT

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Terry Averill, a Yellow Springs based 9-year-old, won the featured trot Friday night at Lebanon Raceway, but it looked unlikely in the early going.

Terry Averill was dead last through most of the muddy race, but a hot burst of speed in the stretch carried past the early leaders and the brown gelding won in a photo finish.

The 2:17, winning trip was worth $10.20, $5.20 and $2.80 to mutual backers.

The mud helped make it a night for longshots; not a favorite won. A 21-1 choice, Buena Rodney, won the third race. Forest Time and Viola Dale joined for a $119 daily double.

Short Shot

By JIMMY DEMARET

The accompanying illustration shows the stance for short irons pictured from behind and looking directly down the intended line of flight.

Not particularly the further withdrawal of the left foot, as compared to its positioning in addressing middle-iron and tee shots, as well as the consequent further opening of the stance, especially from the waist up. The other ball indicates the point of address for middle-iron shots.

We've seen the gradual opening of the stance as we moved from distance clubs to those designed primarily to make shorter, more accurate shots which can be controlled more easily. There's a simple reason for this. The shorter the shot, the shorter the swing, and the less body effort.

Gradually opened

Therefore, the stance is gradually opened as you move from drive to wedge to make it easier for the club to come into the hitting area, make contact and flow up into a follow through. NEXT: The woods.

Hot Stove Leagues

Rain forced postponement of one game and cut short three others in the Salem Hot Stove Leagues Friday night.

The first two no-hitters of the season were hurled by Wayne Washington of Farmers Bank and Scott of National Cleaners. Washington pitched a perfect game, allowing no one to reach first base.

After the first week of action the league leaders are Deming Co., CIO in Class E (1-0), Farmers Bank in Class F (2-0) and National Cleaners in Class G (2-0). Deming's is the lone unbeaten team remaining in Class E, Farmers Bank, Fisher News, Sekely's and Elks are still without a defeat in Class F as are National Cleaners, Petrucci's, K of C and Scott's Sports in Class G.

Class E

Defending champion CIO 3372 (Bliss) picked up its first victory of the season after one setback as it spoiled the debut of CIO 3816 (Eljer). The score of the game, which was limited to four innings by rain was 4-0.

Kid Paret Wins Over Jordan

Cops Welterweight Title In 15-Rounder

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The confused welterweight division today had a new champion, Cuba's Benny (Kid) Paret, who ended Friday night Don Jordan's lackluster reign as the 147-pound kingpin.

But there was still confusion aplenty.

Paret's first defense of his crown is expected to be against Federico Thompson of Argentina. Jordan's buddy, Mickey Cohen, still shuffled in the wings. And there is the question of who gets Jordan's $65,000 purse for his third defense of the title.

A crowd of 3,692 here, plus a national TV audience, watched the onetime sugar cane cutter whip Jordan in 15 uneventful but hard-fought rounds.

"Paret's first defense will be against Thompson and the winner of that meets Luis Rodriguez," said NBA President Anthony Masaroni. "That has been the NBA's plan for some time and that is the way it is going to be."

Jordan, ex-street fighter from Los Angeles' East Side, had a 90-day rematch agreement with the Paret camp. But Paret's manager, Manuel Alvaro, said "We will only fight for a promoter who guarantees us as much as Jordan got this time—$85,000."

Most ring observers feel that after Friday night's uninspired showing, such angels don't exist. Promoters of the fight handed over about $75,000 of Jordan's purse to his estranged managers, Jackie McCoy and Don Neseth, Los Angeles used car salesman. Before the fight, Jordan had agreed to pay them to buy up his contract.

One of the ex-champ's recent advisors was Cohen, who came to the fight with an enthusiastic group of business associates and police escorts.

"Me and my shadows," said ex-gambler Mickey indicating the husky cops who trailed him constantly during his uneventful stay in this gambler's mecca.

While Jordan was at a nearby hospital, getting a slashed left eye sewed up, he got more good news: His ex-wife, Stella, had attached whatever remained of his share of the purse.

Barber's Lead Shrinks In Golf Tourney

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Jerry Barber's fat early lead in the $50,000 "500" Festival Open golf tournament had shrunk to a single stroke today at the midway point as the field hustled to get out of the way of Monday's 50-mile race cars.

Part of the course lies inside the track and the tourney has to end Sunday night, regardless of whether the scheduled 72 holes have been completed.

A rainstorm ended just in time for the early threesomes to tee off Friday morning and the day's program was completed in spite of thunderheads that hung over the course all day.

More showers threatened today and the management said the purse would be split on the basis of 54 holes if the full 72 couldn't be played by Sunday night.

Barber, the 135-pound putting and chipping expert from Los Angeles, led the first round with an 8-under par 63 and added a 69 Friday for 132 strokes.

Doug Sanders of Miami, five strokes back Thursday with a 68, fired Friday's best round on the sodden course, a 65, and trailed Barber by one.

Only two strokes off the pace were Doug Ford, Crystal Lake, Fla., 66-68-134; Jack Burke, Kiamisha Lake, N.Y., 68-66-134, and Johnny Pott, Shreveport, La., 66-68-134.

Art Wall, Pocomo Manor, Pa., was another stroke back at 68-67-135.

Porter Co. Blasted 11-6 By Theron's

The rains arrived too late at Kelley Field Friday night to save the H. K. Porter Co. from suffering its fourth straight defeat, 11-6, at the hands of Theron's IGA, but the remainder of the three-game postponed were Class AA games card was washed out.

Postponed were Class AA games between Herron Transfer and Old Dutch Beer and Shaffer Ford and Orphans. The Class A contest which was played gave way to the elements after five innings.

The first five men up in the game for Theron's came across to score in a six-run first inning. The only hit in the inning was a double by third baseman Jack. Walks and errors kept the rally going.

Theron's collected only four hits off Jackson and Beverly, but the balls and their teammates' Porter hurlers yielded 10 bases on mitted seven big errors behind them.

After Theron's had added three to take a 9-0 lead, Porter's got back in the game with a five-run outburst in the last half of the second. Singles by Pike, Peterson, Moore and Shamy sparked this rally.

Schmidt yielded eight hits in picking up the win for Theron's, which now has a 2-2 record for the season.

Jack had two doubles and a walk for Theron's to lead the hitters Friday. Pike poked out a pair of singles for the losers.

Gloria Armstrong To Vie In Area Tourney

Gloria Armstrong, 31-year-old professional golfer from Alameda, Calif., will boom her long shots in the $16,000 Youngstown Kitchens Ladies Professional Golf Tournament held at Warren's Trumbull County Club, July 6-10.

The hard-hitting Miss Armstrong has informed Kenneth H. Jones, tournament chairman, that she will be on hand in the firing for the $2,500 first prize.

A star-studded field of some 30 top pros and as many nationally known amateur players is expected for this tournament. Earlier this week Barbara Romack was signed.

15 Drivers Enter 1960 Cars In Canfield Classic

Fifteen drivers have entered 1960 model cars in the 11th annual Memorial Day 100-miler at Canfield Speedway. This total is expected to reach nearly 25 by race time, when the complete entry list is expected to hit 50 cars.

Tonight at Canfield, the late models and modified "bombs" get together for an eight-race program over the quarter-mile track.

Time trials tonight begin at 7 and the first race is slated for 8:30. Gates to the speedway will open at 10:30 a.m. Monday. Time trials begin at noon and the fastest 40 qualifiers will start the long 200-lap grind over the half-mile oval at 2:30 p.m.

CAGE COACH HONORED

GRANVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Sid Jenkins, 65-year-old basketball coach and associate professor of physical education at Denison University, was given a testimonial dinner Friday night in honor of his 40 years of service to the school. Alumni, friends and lettermen presented him with a new car.

ATHLETIC TO GET AID

MARIETTA, Ohio (AP) — Frank Christie, a Marietta High School athlete, will play basketball for Wake Forest College under a grant-in-aid arrangement.

Christie was on The Associated Press All-Ohio basketball team and second team All-Ohio football squad. The grant-in-aid system provides for college aid to the athlete to meet the part of his expenses which his parents or others are unable to supply.

Braves Bow 9-5 to Reds

Cards Trip Giants; Dodgers Beat Cubs

By The Associated Press Since he started hitting major league home runs back in 1954, Ed Bailey has slugged one a season against Milwaukee. Just one a year, no more, no less. And he couldn't have picked a better time for his 1960 jolt against the Braves.

This one was a grand-slammer with two out in the ninth that broke a tie and gave Cincinnati a 9-5 victory over Milwaukee Friday night. It moved the Reds within a half-game of the third place Braves, who blew a 5-0 lead and a chance to close in on San Francisco, National League leader.

The Giants lost 5-4 at St. Louis and now have only a one-game lead over rain-idled Pittsburgh. Los Angeles defeated Chicago's Cubs 5-3, giving the Dodgers a five-game streak for the first time this season.

In the American League, Baltimore beat New York 3-2, with Clint Courtney and that new, out-sized catcher's glove successfully surrounding Hoyt Wilhelm's knuckleballs. The victory sent the Orioles back to the top, half a game ahead of the Cleveland Indians, who were rained out at Detroit. Third place Chicago won 7-4 at Kansas City, and Boston defeated Washington 4-3.

Bailey, a left-handed hitting catcher, made it five RBI for the night with his slam off southpaw rookie Ken Mackenzie (0-1). It was Bailey's fourth home run of the season and followed Vada Pinson's second triple and two intentional walks. Mackenzie fanned Jerry Lynch before giving up Bailey's third career bases-loaded homer—his first since 1956 and his second against the Braves.

The Cardinals, out-hit 12-6, beat southpaw Johnny Antonelli (3-1) for the first time in nine decisions over the past two seasons with four runs in the fifth. Ken Boyer's 11th home run, tops in the majors, came with a man on and capped the spurt. Ron Kline (2-3) was the winner with Lindy McDaniel's save in the seventh after Orlando Cepeda hit a two-run homer.

The Dodgers collected all their runs in the first four innings off loser Glen Hobbie (3-6). They got the clincher in a two-run third on a walk and singles by Wally Moon, Norm Larker and Duke Snider. Stan Williams (2-0) won it with Larry Sherry's relief in the seventh.

Fight Results

By The Associated Press Las Vegas, Nev. Benny (Kid) Paret, 146, Santa Clara, Cuba, outpointed Don Jordan, 144½, Los Angeles, 15 (for world's welterweight title).

Melbourne, Australia — Alf O'Sullivan, Australia, outpointed Segenji Sakai, Japan, 12, lightweight.

NEW MARIETTA COACH

MARIETTA, Ohio (AP) — Charles Stocker, 34, replaces Floyd (Scotty) Hamilton as head football coach at Marietta High School. Hamilton will devote his time to guidance work. His 1959 team had a 9-0 record and was sixth in the final Associated Press poll.

Stocker, a former College of Wooster player, has been line coach at Marietta, a position that will be filled by Nick Rahal, 29, assistant football coach and track mentor at Logan High School.

Salem Athletes Fail to Qualify

1,000 Vie for Ohio Titles

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Rain ruined practically everyone but Fredericktown's Dick Davis as more than 1,000 youngsters opened the battle Friday for Ohio's high school spring sports championships.

Only one of four baseball games was played, tennis was forced indoors for the first time in the tournament's history, golf was delayed for hours by downpours, and track performances were hampered by high water.

But Davis, a 6-foot 196-pounder who will join Coach Woody Hayes' Buckeye football forces in the fall, found the footing to his liking.

The big fellow took off his shoes, made a barefoot toss of 51 feet 9 1/2 inches in the shot put, and Class A Fredericktown had the first points of the 53rd annual track-field carnival. Dick's heave was almost a foot ahead of that made by Bob Hartley of Covington, last year's winner, who finished second this time.

As the cinder stars swung into today's finals—13 events in Class AA and 12 in Class A—the championship fight in the large school division wavered between defending king Cleveland Glenville and Springfield's rapid Wildcats. Class A was wide open.

Qualifiers were held in seven track events Friday, and Glenville placed seven men to Springfield's six. Neither has an entry in the other two track events—the half-mile and mile—but Springfield is well represented in the field events. Glenville's one-two speed punch of Nate Adams and Vic Reed—both qualified in the 100 and 220-yard dashes—could give the champs the necessary edge. Glenville's 880-yard relay team of Al Woodal, Frank Perez, Adams and Reed wrote a new 1:28.8 record into the book despite the rain and treacherous footing. The jaunt erased the 1:29.3 set last year by Cleveland East Tech.

That same relay saw East Tech and Salem disqualified for running out of their allotted lanes. Elyria ousted for an illegal baton pass, and Warren's bid ruined by a baton mixup in which Paul Warfield, the star of the Panthers, fell into the cinders.

Liberty Union won the only baseball game of the day, 2-0 over Goshen's 1958 champions. Convo Union had a 4-0 edge over Newton Falls Braceville when rain halted play in the fourth, and they'll have to do it all over again.

The four Class AA team didn't get started at all, and the visit of all the baseball clubs could be a lengthy one. Indications were the teams would spend Memorial Day settling the two titles.

The golf scrap, going into the final 18 holes, was tight as a drum. Defending champion Shaker Heights led with a four-man total of 324. Youngstown Cardinal Mooney was next with 326, Springfield and Alliance had 329, and Kettering Fairmont and Whitehall Yearling 330.

Earl Weiss of Shaker Heights, last year's individual winner, scored a shaky 82 to fall eight strokes back of East Liverpool's Craig Burdick. The latter's 74 was only one ahead of Bob Carson of Whitehall Yearling, and two ahead of Bob Spadafora of Hamilton Taft.

Tennis, with only a few field-house courts available to the big field, carried far into the night to reach the semi-finals.

Any hopes the Salem Quakers have of scoring in the state track and field meet rest on the shoulders of miler Jim Solmen and pole vaulter Jim Lehwald. The remaining nine Quaker representatives in the meet failed to survive yesterday's qualifying trials.

There were no qualifying rounds in the pole vault or mile run yesterday.

Salem's 440-yard dash hopeful, Dan Krichbaum, finished last in his heat with a time of 56.5. This was more than four seconds slower than his usual time. Krichbaum, an all-around athlete at Salem, was suffering from a case of the flu and received a shot just prior to his running.

Bob Zeppeneck threw the discus 140 feet, his longest heave of the year, but failed to place. Alliance's Jim Davidson took a third place in this event.

Performing on the Quaker half mile relay team which was disqualified for running out of its lane were Gary Devan, Dave Edling, Ron Janovec and Tim Burchfield. Salem was pretty much out of this race anyway.

Also failing to qualify from Salem was the mile relay team of Tom Floyd, Dick Burt, Gordy Scullion and Krichbaum.

Libson's one-man track team, Tom Brooks, failed to qualify against rugged competition in the 100 and 220-yard dashes.

Jack Istnick and Rich Libert of East Palestine will compete in the pole vault this afternoon.

Salem High Athletic Director Fred Cope is head track inspector at the state meet. One of the duties of his staff is to determine disqualifications like the ones which occurred in the relays.

Indianapolis Drivers to Hear 'Facts of Life' from Steward

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Jim Hurlbise, hottest rookie to hit the Indianapolis Motor Speedway since World War II, will sit with drivers Sunday and hear the facts of life in Monday's 44th 500-mile Memorial Day race.

Chief Steward Harlan Fengler, himself a former racer and riding mechanic, will tell them the 200-lap race won't be won in the first lap—and please don't try it.

Cars get faster every year, and drivers get bolder as the purse gets bigger. Speedway officials have fears of the entire field being wiped out in one pile-up while the cars are bunched in starting position.

It almost happened two years ago when cars of Ed Elisian and Dick Rathmann tangled at the front of the pack, causing a 15-car wreck that killed Pat O'Connor. His death, and that of two drivers in practice runs last year, brought the track's toll to 50.

Elisian was killed in a race at Milwaukee last summer in the same Traveler Special in which Hurlbise set a new speedway 10-mile qualifying record of 149.056 miles an hour last Sunday. The 33-car field averaged another record, 144.070.

The Traveler has been rebuilt, of course.

Brand new Watsons will be driven by the first-position starter, Eddie Sachs of Allentown, Pa., who held the qualifying record until Hurlbise broke it; and the two other front row veterans, last year's winner Roger Ward and Jim Rathmann of Miami.

Rathmann finished second last year by 23 seconds. He has taken three seconds in 10 races but never has won.

Hurlbise will have to start in 23rd place, in the eighth row, because he qualified late after 22 drivers already had earned their positions.

The Salem Coaches team remained on top of the league standings with a 15 1/2-4 1/2 record.

They are followed by Pittsburgh Foundry, 14-6; Ohio Fuel and Gas, 12 1/2-7 1/2; Bliss No. 1, 12-8; Bayless Bottle Gas, 12-8; First National Bank, 11 1/2-8 1/2; Eljer, 11-9; Gottschall Tool & Die, 10-6; Ohio Recapping, 9-11; Olson's 8 1/2-11 1/2; Robbys Knoll, 8-12; Theiss Flower Shop, 4 1/2-15 1/2; Bliss No. 2, 4-16; Steve's, 3 1/2-16 1/2.

Several special golf contests will be held at the Robbys Knoll Course on Memorial Day. Planned is a flag tournament and competition in driving, putting and pitching.

Season Opener Set Sunday By Polo Club

The Salem Polo Club will open a 31-game schedule, the lengthiest in its more than 20 years of competition, when it plays host to Columbus Harbor Hills at 3 p.m. Sunday.

The same two teams will tangle again on Memorial Day at the Salem Polo Club Field on the Ellsworth Road. This tilt also is slated for 3 p.m.

Salem has added two players from Youngstown to its roster for this season. Veteran Joe Botak, formerly of the Mahoning Valley Club, will ride in the number one position and young Jim Burgess will be available for duty as an alternate.

Back from last year's Salem team which won eight games and lost 15 are Jimmy Barr, number two; Phil Thompson, number three; and Lloyd Brunner, number four. Jack Arnold will be back to give the locals good alternate strength.

Salem has home games scheduled for every Sunday in June. Its first long trip will come over the July 4 holidays when the team travels to Columbus. The final game of the season is slated for Oct. 23 at Cleveland.

The Salem Polo Club will once again be playing in the Penn-Ohio League. Other members of the loop are Mahoning Valley, Beaver Valley, Darlington, Cleveland, Toledo, Lancaster and Columbus.

Francis S. Favored In $100,000 Race

NEW YORK (AP)—Francis S. was favored to win the $100,000-added Withers Mile today at Aqueduct.

This ancient race for 3-year-olds was inaugurated the year before Aristides captured the first Kentucky Derby in 1875. Aristides then won the second Withers at Jerome Park.

Twelve horses were entered for the 8th running, and not one of them started May 7 in the Kentucky Derby or the Preakness last week. The Withers, however, certainly must produce a solid candidate or two for the last of the triple crown—the $125,000 Belmont Stakes June 11.

Francis S., owned by Louis Wolfson, won the Wood Memorial in his last start. He'll be ridden by Eddie Arcaro.

Jack Dreyfus' Beau Purple, surprise winner of the Derby trial but unable to start in the derby itself due to a sore shin, is among the top threats to Francis S. So is the Pebblebrook Farm's Irish Lancer, who whipped such good colts as Tompion, Bourbon Prince, Weatherwise and Vital Force last August in the Saratoga Special.

Eric Guerin rides Beau Purple. Manuel Ycaza pilots Irish Lancer. They were listed as so-second choices at 3-1.

Others entered were New Commander, Udalpur, Four Lane, Count Amber, Kikinkhouse, John William, Disperse, Idolater and Whitechapel.

TAR CAUSES FIRE

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Hot tar setting the roof on fire is believed to be the cause of a blaze that destroyed the United Presbyterian Church here Friday.

The fire broke out on the roof while repairs were being made. The roof crashed into the interior, spreading the fire to the main portion of the church. Church officials estimated the loss at between $250,000 and $300,000.

Matter of Fact

The most insulting remark you can make to a comedian is to tell him: "That joke's right out of Joe Miller." The grandfather of all stale jokes supposedly was Joseph Miller, an 18th century British actor. He doesn't deserve his reputation. In fact, "Joe Miller's Jest Book" was the work of another man and came out a year after Miller's death. It's a mystery why his name was used.

SERVICE DISCONTINUED

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — It would not be unjust or unreasonable to discontinue Pennsylvania Railroad passenger trains 68 and 69 between Toledo and Crestline. Utilities Commission Attorney-Examiner Jack L. Briggs has ruled. The three-member commission must act on the recommendation. The railroad says it is losing money by operating the trains.
